TomTod Wins the YMCA's Fresh Page Project

Canton, OH - May 3, 2013 - TomTod Ideas has won a $5,000 grant from the YMCA after getting the most votes for their Fresh Page Project on Facebook.

The national office of the Y was looking for innovative community improvement ideas from around the country. Voting on Facebook took place March 27-April 21. The top five finalists from voting were presented to a judges panel and on Friday, May 3 a winner was announced. TomTod Ideas received 1791 votes putting them in first place at the end of the voting process.

"We are so grateful to everyone who voted, shared and allowed their Facebook timelines to be cluttered with our requests," said TomTod's Executive Dreamer Joel Daniel Harris.

The prize of $5,000 will help a new batch of projects lift-off this fall as TomTod moves to an open application process that will allow middle school students to dream in ways they never have before.

TomTod Ideas exists to empower middle school students to launch absurd ideas to rebuild a broken world. Learn more at www.tomtodideas.org and www.facebook.com/tomtodideas.
